

Centrafi Launches Newly Designed ExtendedWarrantyInformation.com

Centrafi announces the release of their redesigned consumer awareness website, ExtendedWarrantyInformation.com. The website offers a free online guide for visitors, helping them understand and navigate the ambiguous world of extended car warranties.

(PRWeb via PRWeb) February 11, 2008 -- Centrafi announces the release of their redesigned consumer awareness website, ExtendedWarrantyInformation.com. The website offers a free online guide for visitors, helping them understand and navigate the ambiguous world of extended car warranties.

The new design was developed in response to many of the site's users who claimed the old website was too difficult to navigate. Although the site was littered with useful information provided by car companies and past visitors, much of it was disorganized. The new design allows visitors to easily find the information that relates to their own personal vehicle's warranty, and to request a quote for an extended auto warranty.

In addition to the new user friendly design, the information offered by the site has been updated with the latest warranty specific data received from all major car companies, and extended car warranty providers.

Jonathan Williams, Webmaster of ExtendedWarrantyInformation.com, said "Thousands of people were coming to our extended auto warranty site every day, and many of them would leave without finding the full wealth of information that was available to them. We are very excited about the new site, and we're confident that it will add to the experience of all our visitors."
